UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
EASTERN DIVISION

KATHRYN S. AGUILAR,	}	Case No. ED CV 15-00576-DFM
Plaintiff,		MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER
v.
CAROLYN COLVIN, Acting Commissioner of Social Security,
Defendant.

Plaintiff Kathryn S. Aguilar ("Plaintiff") appeals from the final decision of the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") denying her applications for Social Security disability benefits. On appeal, the Court concludes that the ALJ satisfied his burden at step five of the sequential process. The ALJ's decision is therefore affirmed and the matter is dismissed with prejudice.

I.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff filed applications for Social Security Disability Insurance Benefits and Supplemental Security Income in January 2010, alleging disability beginning April 15, 2006. Administrative Record ("AR") 90-93,

1 622A-622F. On May 15, 2013, a hearing was held on Plaintiff's claims for
2 benefits. AR 748-73. The ALJ issued an unfavorable decision on June 14,
3 2013. AR 18-31. The ALJ determined that Plaintiff had the residual functional
4 capacity ("RFC") to perform light work with certain restrictions, including a
5 sit/stand option.¹ AR 23. Relying on the testimony of a vocational expert
6 ("VE"), the ALJ found that Plaintiff could not perform her past relevant work,
7 but was able to perform other work, including work as a packager, inspector,
8 and assembler. AR 30-31. After the Appeals Council denied further review,
9 this action followed. AR 5-7.

10 II.

11 ISSUE PRESENTED

12 The parties dispute whether the ALJ properly determined that Plaintiff
13 could perform alternative work. See Joint Stipulation ("JS") 5.

14 III.

15 DISCUSSION

16 A. Relevant Background

17 At the administrative hearing, the ALJ asked the VE to consider a 18 hypothetical person of Plaintiff's age, education, and background who could 19 perform work at the light exertional level, but was limited by a sit/stand option
20 along with the other restrictions included in Plaintiff's RFC. AR 768-69. The 21 VE testified that such a person would not be able to perform Plaintiff's past 22 relevant work, but an individual fitting such a description would be able to 23

24 ¹ Specifically, the ALJ found that Plaintiff could perform light work, but 25 would need a "sit and stand option," was limited to simple and repetitive tasks 26 and occasional climbing, balancing, stooping, kneeling, crouching and 27 crawling, and should avoid concentrated exposure to hazards and working 28 around heights and machinery. AR 23 (citing 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1567(b), 416.967(b)).

1 perform the jobs of packager (Dictionary of Occupational Titles (“DOT”)
2 559.687-074), inspector (DOT 727.687-066), and assembler (DOT 731.687-
3 034). AR 769. After the VE responded to other hypotheticals and questions,
4 Plaintiff’s counsel asked the VE whether he had assumed an at-will sit/stand
5 option. AR 769-71. The VE confirmed that he had considered an at-will 6 sit/stand option. AR 771. Plaintiff’s counsel then asked whether the other
7 work identified would be impacted by the need to sit/stand at will. Id. The VE
8 responded that the three jobs identified were not impacted, as they were 9 “bench work in nature.” Id. Finally, in response to the ALJ’s inquiry, the VE
10 testified that his testimony had been according to the DOT. Id.

11 B. Applicable Law

12 At step five of the five-step process, the Commissioner has the burden to 13 demonstrate that the claimant can perform some work that exists in 14 “significant numbers” in the national or regional economy, taking into account
15 the claimant’s RFC, age, education, and work experience. Tackett v. Apfel,
16 180 F.3d 1094, 1100 (9th Cir. 1999); 42 U.S.C. § 423(d)(2)(A); 20 C.F.R. §§
17 404.1560(c), 416.960(c). The Commissioner may satisfy that burden either 18 through a VE’s testimony or by reference to the Medical-Vocational 19 Guidelines appearing in 20 C.F.R. part 404, subpart P, appendix 2. See 20 Tackett, 180 F.3d at 1100-01. When a VE provides evidence about the 21 requirements of a job, the ALJ has a responsibility to ask about “any possible
22 conflict” between that evidence and the DOT. See SSR 00-4p, 2000 WL
23 1898704, at *4 (Dec. 4, 2000); Massachi v. Astrue, 486 F.3d 1149, 1152-54 (9th
24 Cir. 2007) (holding that ALJ must ask the VE whether testimony conflicts with 25 DOT). When such a conflict exists, the ALJ may accept VE testimony that 26 contradicts the DOT only if the record contains “persuasive evidence to 27 support the deviation.” Pinto v. Massanari, 249 F.3d 840, 846 (9th Cir. 2001)
28 (quoting Johnson v. Shalala, 60 F.3d 1428, 1435 (9th Cir. 1995)); see also

1 Tommasetti v. Astrue, 533 F.3d 1035, 1042 (9th Cir. 2008) (finding error when
2 “ALJ did not identify what aspect of the VE’s experience warranted deviation
3 from the DOT”).

4 C. Analysis

5 Plaintiff contends that the VE’s testimony that the other jobs identified
6 could be performed with a sit/stand option conflicted with the DOT and the 7 ALJ erred by failing to obtain an explanation for the deviation from the VE.
8 See JS 5-11, 16-18. The Court finds that the ALJ did not err.

9 The DOT does not provide information regarding the availability of a 10 sit/stand option or other need to alternate between sitting and standing during 11 the workday for the jobs identified by the VE. See DOT 559.687-074
12 (packager), DOT 727.687-066 (inspector), and DOT 731.687-034 (assembler);
13 see also Wester v. Colvin, No. 14-1212, 2015 WL 4608139, at *4 (C.D. Cal.
14 July 31, 2015) (“The DOT provides no information regarding the availability 15 of a sit/stand option or other need to shift positions between sitting and 16 standing during the workday for any of the jobs it covers.”); Strain v. Colvin,
17 No. CV 13-01973-SH, 2014 WL 2472312, at *2 (C.D. Cal. June 2, 2014)
18 (concluding that “the DOT simply does not address sit/stand options”).

19 There is no controlling Ninth Circuit law addressing whether a VE’s
20 testimony conflicts with the DOT when the DOT is silent regarding a sit/stand
21 option. See, e.g., Dewey v. Colvin, No. 13-36086, 2016 WL 3018800, at *1 22 (9th Cir. May 26, 2016) (unpublished; finding “no conflict” as “the DOT is 23 silent on whether the jobs in question allow for a sit/stand option”); Buckner-24 Larkin v. Astrue, 450 F. App’x 626, 628-29 (9th Cir. 2011) (unpublished;
25 finding that “conflict” between at-will sit/stand option and DOT was 26 adequately addressed by VE). District courts in the Ninth Circuit are divided 27 on whether a conflict exists for limitations not addressed by the DOT,
28 including sit/stand options. See Wester, 2015 WL 4608139, at *5 (collecting

1 cases); see also JS at 8-9.

2 The Court agrees with the decisions that have found no conflict arises
3 when the DOT does not address whether jobs accommodate a sit/stand
4 option. See, e.g., Dewey, 2016 WL 3018800, at *1; Doty v. Colvin, No. CV
5 15-00507, 2016 WL 1089171, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 2016) (finding “no
6 conflict” between VE’s testimony and the DOT “when the DOT is silent about
7 a particular mental or physical requirement”); Strain, 2014 WL 2472312, at *2
8 (“Because the DOT does not address the subject of sit/stand option, it is not 9 apparent that the testimony of the VE conflicts with the DOT”); Winder v.
10 Colvin, No. 13-1960, 2014 WL 4060010, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 14, 2014)
11 (“This Court agrees with the decisions that decline to find an ‘apparent’
12 conflict when the DOT is silent about a particular mental or physical 13 requirement and the claimant’s counsel failed to raise or identify any conflict
14 to the ALJ.”). Thus, the ALJ did not err in relying on the VE’s testimony.

15 Moreover, even if a conflict existed, the VE offered sufficient support for 16 his conclusion. As discussed, the VE testified that the jobs identified could be 17 performed with an at-will, sit/stand option. AR 768-69, 771. When Plaintiff’s
18 counsel specifically asked about the impact of such a limitation, the VE
19 explained that the jobs would not be impacted because they involved bench
20 work. AR 771; see DOT 727.687-066 (inspector); DOT 731.687-034
21 (assembler).² Plaintiff’s counsel declined to ask the VE any additional

22
23 ² The Court notes that the packager job (DOT 559.687-074) is a
24 processing occupation, rather than a benchwork occupation, as indicated by 25 the VE. AR 769, 771. However, any error in the ALJ’s reliance on the VE’s
26 mischaracterization of the packager job is harmless, given that the VE cited to 27 the two other benchwork jobs that Plaintiff can perform that exist in significant 28 numbers in the national economy, i.e. inspector (400,000 jobs nationally; 20,000 jobs in region) and assembler (235,000 jobs nationally; 10,600 jobs in region). AR 769; see Stout v. Comm’r, Soc. Sec. Admin., 454 F.3d 1050, 1055

1 questions. The ALJ then properly inquired and confirmed that the VE's
2 testimony was consistent with the DOT. See Massachi, 486 F.3d at 1152-54;
3 SSR 00-4p. Thus, there was substantial evidence to support the VE's testimony
4 and the ALJ did not err in concluding that Plaintiff could perform other work.
5 Remand is not warranted on Plaintiff's claim of error.

6 IV.

7 CONCLUSION

8 For the reasons stated above, the decision of the Social Security
9 Commissioner is AFFIRMED and the action is DISMISSED with prejudice.
